BACKGROUND

ABC Ginto is an exuberant geometric-humanist typeface that delights in tension, especially its own tension between circular and rectangular forms. London-based graphic designer Seb McLauchlan developed the font while researching sans-serif typefaces from the twentieth century, focusing on the shift from strict Modernist “purity” to the more baroque, animated styles that emerged during the phototypesetting period of the '50s and '60s. These two historic impulses have been remixed to create a dynamic and charismatic set of forms.

ABC Ginto consists of the two sister-families, Normal and Nord. ABC Ginto Normal is compact and poised, and encompasses a sensible set of weights ranging from Thin to Black, allowing the typeface to perform well in a variety of sizes and environments. Nord, on the other hand, takes the tone and timbre of Normal and amps up the volume to 11. It borrows from the former's structure but expands the x-height and character width, and also includes more weights, stretching from a fine Hairline to a monolithic Ultra Bold.
